

The good egg

by Jory John

A follow-up to The Bad Seed finds a good egg striving to do everything right while the other eggs in his carton prove themselves rather rotten, a distinction that leads him to crack under the pressure of always being Grade-A perfect. 150,000 first printing

Nana Fatou goes to school

by Tricia Elam Walker

An evocative celebration of cultural diversity finds young Zura participating in Grandparents Day at her elementary school by introducing her classmates to her West African grandmother, who explains to the students why her traditional facial tattoos are special. Illustrations.

Sheepish : (Wolf under cover)

by Helen Yoon

When Wolf disguises himself as a sheep and infiltrates the friendly neighborhood herd, helping with chores, reading bedtime stories to the lambs, and working up a sweat in sheep aerobics class, Wolf's sneaky disguise is not as convincing as he thinks

This is not my hat

by J. Klassen

A follow-up to the award-winning I Want My Hat Back follows the antics of a tiny fish who wears a perfectly fitting round blue hat while trying to avoid an enormous sleeping fish.

Library lion

by Michelle Knudsen

A lion starts visiting the local library but runs into trouble as he tries to both obey the rules and help his librarian friend

The quiltmaker's gift

by Jeff Brumbeau

When a generous quiltmaker finally agrees to make a quilt for a greedy king but only under certain conditions, she causes him to undergo a change of heart

Sylvester and the magic pebble

by William Steig

Enhanced with bright illustrations, a revised 1970 Caldecott Medal winner provides a new generation with the classic tale about shy Sylvester the donkey, his discovery of a magical pebble, and the very special wishes he makes with it. A Caldecott Medal book.

Inch by inch

by Leo Lionni

A commemorative release of the Caldecott Honor-winning book by the late Society of Illustrators Lifetime Achievement-winning author follows the experiences of a resourceful green inchworm whose ability to measure anything is challenged by a singing nightingale.

Benton Public Library

48 W. Main, Benton
Benton, Wisconsin 53803
608-759-2665

bentonpubliclibrary.com